WHO WE ARE

LEARISK specialises in providing risk engineering and risk management assessments and solutions and has over 50 years of experience within the team.

We offer independent advice and service and our experience enables us to identify, prevent and reduce many risks that companies inherently face in their operations.

We also provide valuations for commercial and industrial assets which can assist in identifying such issues as under-insurance.

Our interdisciplinary team of professionals includes: architects, engineers, accountants, NFPA certified specialists and other sector experts.

At LEARISK we continually seek to develop and improve our understanding and assessment of risk in our clients businesses. We use the latest quantification tools of catastrophic event simulators (Maximum losses estimation), hydraulic simulators to design fire protection systems and virtual training platforms, amongst others.
